Discipleship Thought –
Words for Worship

We often find ourselves asking, 'Why does God allow suffering?' For many, this is a question shaped by experiences of grief, loss, injustice, or pain. The scriptures do not offer easy answers. Instead, they speak of God who is present in the midst of human suffering, not distant from it. Pain, grief, loss, loneliness, injustice, exile, violence, estrangement, war and natural disasters are part of human experience. We see this in our own lives, and the world around us. Yet the promise we are given is not that suffering will never touch us, but that we are not alone within it. In the vision of Revelation, we are offered a glimpse of what God's presence among those who suffer—protection, an end to hunger and thirst, and the tender promise that every tear will be wiped away.
